

12 months Internship in China for Stable2Table

Stable2Table is a newly established food company based in Suzhou, China. The company aims to develop a new pork meat brand targeted the Chinese market. Stable2Table is currently an investment project under Asia Base A/S (see www.asiabase.com).

Stable2Table needs a 12 months intern to help with feasibility study for crop production in China from the 1st of September 2008. This will be a challenging task for the intern. However, you will have a China experience, which will benefit your career for the rest of your life.

Stable2Table requirement for the internship:

- Good spoken and written English
- An entrepreneurial mindset
- Personal drive and courage
- Knowledge about crop production
- Practical working experience with crop production will be preferred

Stable2Table offers:

- A valuable and unique China experience
- A Chinese teammate for the intern project
- Accommodation during the internship
- International insurance
- Travel cost paid
- A minor paid support (expect that Danish intern has SU)
- Suzhou, Venice in the East, a fascinating city about 80 km West from Shanghai
